Chamberlain to Ask Demobilization as Price of Surrender

Co-operation Sought in New Locarno Pact When British Prime Minister Makes Second Visit to Germany This Morning—Poland and Hungary Putting Forward Their Claims

Czechoslovakia Dramatically Announces a Great Sacrifice

LONDON, Sept. 22 (AP).—Informed quarters said Prime Minister Chamberlain will ask Adolf Hitler to demobilize the large number of reserves assembled for manoeuvres in return for annexation of the Sudetenland, when he talks with the Fuehrer at Godesberg today.

With Czechoslovakia's surrender in his pocket as a bid for world peace, Chamberlain will ask the Chancellor to join in an Anglo-German appeal for peace and order while an international commission drafts the new Czechoslovak frontiers, it was reliably reported.

Though this report was not confirmed, it was said in reliable quarters that Chamberlain's other proposals would include:

1. Co-operation in a new Locarno Pact of non-aggression among Germany, Britain, France and Italy.
2. Termination of the hostile German press campaign.
3. New economic and military guarantees for Czechoslovakia.

VISIT HITLER TODAY

LONDON, Sept. 21 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain saw the King tonight after a two-hour cabinet meeting on the eve of his second trip to Germany in an attempt to save the peace of Europe by man-to-man conferences with Chancellor Hitler.

The Prime Minister will leave Heston Airport at 10 a.m. (2 a.m. mountain standard time) with the conference scheduled to start at Godesberg at 3 p.m.

DR. J. WOODSIDE HEADS CHURCH

Ottawa: Minister Is Elected Moderator of United Church of Canada

TORONTO, Sept. 21 (AP).—Rev. John W. Woodside, D.D., minister of Chalmers United Church, Ottawa, was elected moderator of the United Church of Canada tonight, succeeding Rev. Peter Bryce, now minister of Metropolitan United Church, Toronto.

Dr. Woodside was elected at the first business session of the eighth general conference of the church which opened in Trinity United Church today. He was elected over Rev. Robert Laird, D.D., church treasurer, who, after the result of the election was announced, moved Dr. Woodside's election be made unanimous.

On his installation, Dr. Woodside declared the church would only recover her leadership when she shared with God His concern for needy and suffering men everywhere.

ACTIVE IN CHURCH UNION

Dr. Woodside had a notable record of service in the Presbyterian Church when he entered the United Church of Canada on its formation in 1925. Prior to the union he was organizer for Canada of the church union vote.

Born at St. Sylvester, Que., fifty-seven years ago, the new moderator was educated at Manitoba and McGill Universities and the Presbyterian College, Montreal. He has held the chairmanships of the Presbyteries of New Westminster and Ottawa and was president of the Montreal and Ottawa Conference of the United Church in 1927-1928.

Dr. Woodside is a member of the executive committee of the General Council, a member of the senate of the United Theological College, Montreal, and a director of the Ottawa Ladies College.

Thousands of Employees Are Newly Classified

OTTAWA, Sept. 21 (AP).—Positions of more than 7,000 employees in the Government service in Ottawa and other parts of the Dominion have been reclassified this year, it was learned today. The new grades include salary increases. More than 25,000 positions have been reclassified.

Tries Vainly For Defeat In Election

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 21 (AP).—Police Officer Thomas Leary, who campaigned to defeat himself for delegate to the Democratic state convention, was the nominee today. Leary, whose platform included such planks as an increase in the old age limit for pensions from sixty-five to 70 years, defeated Francis Corcoran, 1,165 to 1,106.

His name was entered on the ballot by friends but he sought defeat because it is against police department rules for an officer to seek election to public office.

COAL SHORTAGE IS THREATENED

Fernie Mine Accident Causes Suspension of Deliveries Of Fuel

FERNIE, B.C., Sept. 21 (AP).—A coal shortage loomed at this East Kootenay city tonight as the result of yesterday's mine accident at the No. 1 East Mine of the C.P.W. Nest Pass Coal Company, which brought death to three miners and trapped four others for hours.

Today the company suspended all deliveries of fuel. Hundreds of tons of coal are piled up at the mine. Officials announced, however, that a rationing policy would be instituted pending resumption of operations so that no one would be completely denied coal in the event of cold weather.

INQUEST ADJOURNED

An inquest into the accident tonight stood indefinitely adjourned. Jurymen viewed the bodies of William Brown, William Green and Thomas Manning, and decided they would examine the section of the mine which was demolished by an intense "bump," before hearing evidence.

This inspection will be held up pending inspection by British Columbia Government mine officials.

They were preceded last evening by members of the organization committee and party officials helping to arrange a gathering at which between 300 and 400 delegates from all parts of the province, are expected to be present.

Pooley, K.C., and other outstanding members of the party, included in strong delegations from each of the several city and district wards.

Balloon Centre Inspected

Tobacco Industry Combine Alleged By Commissioner

Report of Minister of Labor Alleges Agreements Made for Maintenance of Prices in Wholesale And Retail Distribution of Practically All Tobacco Products Throughout Canada

OTTAWA, Sept. 21 (AP).—Hon. Norman Rogers, Federal Minister of Labor, was told today that an unlawful price combine exists in the Canadian tobacco industry and "the suppression of competition which has been effected in this industry is distinctly against the public interest."

SURVEYOR RUN OVER BY SCOW

Ernest Lamarque Nearly Drowned and Crushed to Death in North

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., Sept. 21 (AP).—Ernest Lamarque, fifty-eight-year-old Vancouver surveyor, was in hospital here today recovering from bruises and shock suffered yesterday when he fell forty feet from the deck of a freight scow on the Omineca River, and the scow passed over him.

The water in the river was so shallow he was rolled over and over on the bottom by the scow. He was rescued by fellow passengers at the back of the scow and taken to Germansen Landing, 150 miles north of here.

Canadian Airways at Port St. James was notified and Pilot Russ Baker was sent to take the injured man to hospital. Baker bucked fog and rain through the 100-mile flight and had difficulty in locating the seaplane landing at Germansen.

MAKES PERILOUS TRIP

On his way south after picking up Lamarque the pilot fought through fog and rain and at one time it took him one and a half hours to cover thirty miles. Baker landed here in semi-darkness.

Lamarque, surveyor for the British Columbia Public Works Department, had been employed on a road construction project from Old Hogen to Alken Lake, about 160 miles northwest of here, and was returning to Germansen Landing when the accident occurred.

Dr. C. Ewert said today he expected the injured man to be discharged from hospital within a few days.

EGYPTIAN MANOEUVRES

CAIRO, Sept. 21 (AP).—Egyptian troops manned all bridges and dams on a 450-mile stretch of the Nile today from Cairo to Aswan, on the lower reaches of the stream to the south. The move was said authoritatively to be a "test measure."

THOUSANDS INJURED BY HURRICANE AND GREAT TIDAL WAVES

Hundreds of Small Craft Founder in Eastern Hurricane

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP).—Coast guard headquarters here estimated tonight that between 500 and 600 small craft were lost, sunk or driven ashore by the hurricane which battered the New England Coast. The vessels were mainly small fishing, pleasure or work craft. About 2,500 men and scores of coast guard vessels, including sturdy cutters, were engaged in rescue work, officials said. All coast guard planes in the storm area were ordered to take off at dawn tomorrow to aid in the rescue work.

Many Millions of Dollars Damage Left in Wake Of Gales in Five Atlantic Coast States—Buildings Demolished, Communications Disrupted and Populous Areas Flooded

Highway Traffic Disrupted; Fires Start at Many Points

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP).—A tremendous hurricane smashed across the northeastern states last night, killing at least 127 persons and leaving thousands more injured, missing or homeless. Early today the storm roared on into Canada. Uncounted millions of dollars in damage was wrought and virtually whole sections of some cities were devastated.

The known death toll by states was: Massachusetts, thirty-seven; Connecticut, twenty-one; Rhode Island, thirty-two; New York, thirty; New Hampshire, seven.

The hurricane, a tropical storm of 100-mile winds and tidal waves, swept up from the south and veered in from the coast with astounding force and suddenness. It was probably the worst in fifty years.

EVSTON HAS CLOSE CALL

Rear End of Thunderbolt Collapses When Racing At High Speed

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 21 (AP).—Narrowly averting disaster when the rear end of his seven-ton racer collapsed at a speed close to 300 miles per hour, Capt. George E. T. Eyston, of England, quit this shimmering speedway today and brought the high speed racing season to a close.

Because the giant Thunderbolt was crippled beyond quick repair, the tank, nevertheless, retired, infantry captain closed his attempt, at least for this year, to raise his world's land speed record of 357.5 m.p.h. above the coveted six-mile-a-minute mark.

Thunderbolt, its right rear dual wheels grotesquely mangled and fouled in its body, ploughed through the northbound measured mile at 347.85 m.p.h. despite the fact that the car's rear was planing along the salt.

Eyston, calm after his brush with death, admitted "it could have been disastrous."

He said he was going over 300 m.p.h. when the accident occurred as he entered the measured mile.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME ENDS SOON

Ontario Citizens to Put Clocks Back One Hour on Saturday Night

TORONTO, Sept. 21 (AP).—That extra hour of sleep last Spring by thousands of Ontario citizens when clocks in their municipalities were pushed ahead for daylight saving time will be recovered this week-end. Most places observing "fast" time will reverse clockhands an hour sometime around midnight on Saturday.

Daylight saving time, a method of tinkering with clocks so city workers may have longer periods of light, after finishing work, was observed in forty-seven Ontario municipalities this year. The majority will revert to standard time this week-end.

Gale Sweeps Across Quebec; Power Lines Down Over Province

Montreal Man Electrocuted by Falling Wire—Sherbrooke City in Darkness—Winds Reach Sixty Miles an Hour—Damage Light

MONTREAL, Sept. 21 (AP).—One man was electrocuted when he came in contact with a broken power line, as a fierce rain and wind storm swept down over Quebec tonight. Borne in from the Eastern United States by a high-velocity wind, the storm did its principal property damage in the eastern townships and left power and communication lines down all over the province. Motoring was made hazardous and debris was hurled through the air by the gale.

KILLED BY SHOCK
In Montreal, Robert A. Darwin, twenty-five, was killed when struck by a falling wire at a street corner. Constable John Neville, twenty-five, was seriously injured when struck by an automobile while guarding a fallen tree. Several roofs were stripped from small homes in Sherbrooke, centre of the hardest-hit area.

All Sherbrooke was plunged into darkness when electrical lines were broken under the force of the wind. Telegraph communications were hit hard.

CABINET SPLIT IS THREATENED

Five French Ministers Said To Be Considering Resigning in Protest

PARIS, Sept. 21 (AP).—Threats of a Cabinet crisis over the French-British proposals which today forced Czechoslovakia to agree to surrender her Sudetenland to Germany arose tonight against Premier Daladier's Government.

Five Ministers headed by Paul Reynaud, Minister of Justice, known to favor a sterner stand against German expansion in Central Europe, held a midnight meeting in the Justice Ministry. The others were Oscar Campinchi, Navy Minister; Georges Mandel, Minister of Education; Jean Zay, Minister of Education, and Marc Rucart, Minister of Public Health.

This development aroused reports that the Ministers were considering offering their resignations in protest against Foreign Minister Bonnet's handling of the crisis.

REFUSE TO COMMENT
The Ministers, after their conference, declined all comment, but their action in meeting after was taken to mean in political quarters they were at odds with their colleagues. Even if Daladier weathered a threatened break in his Cabinet, his Popular Front support giving him a parliamentary majority was split on the issue.

A group of Socialist Deputies voted a motion declaring their opposition to "diplomatic action which results in imposing on a state a sacrifice of its independence without consulting it and under the menace of aggression."

Thousands Are Killed And Injured by Terrific New England Storm

A landslide swept a twenty-two-car freight train into the river at Deerfield, Mass. The crew escaped.

High winds demolished a 700-foot freight shed at New Haven.

The storm reached west to Brattleboro, Vt., tearing down trees and wires.

Nantucket Island, thirty miles off the coast, struggled in darkness—its worst storm in forty years.

In nearly all the states affected, Governors declared states of emergency and called out the National Guard.

Others halted looting of jewelry stores in Wagonmouth.

Massachusetts proclaimed a fuel and food emergency and allotted $25,000 for immediate flood relief work.

FOOD SHORTAGES FORESEEN

Stringent food shortages were foreseen for today because of damage to roads and railroads throughout the territory. In Connecticut alone, more than forty bridges on arterial highways were carried away.

Storm warnings had been sounded along the coast for several days as the hurricane formed off Florida and slowly pushed north. But there was little expectation of preparation for the suddenness and force with which it veered inland and smashed the northeastern area.

A few coast guard boats were rushed north from New York and New Jersey, but the rest were soon pressed into service for rescue work at home as the tail-end of the storm smashed the north central states.

Rising waters in Up-State New York brought fears there of a Hudson River flood. The state barge canal was closed and more than seventy boats tied up.

Part of the Mohawk trial in the mountainous section around the New York-Massachusetts border was under water.

NEW YORK CITY HIT

New York City's seven and a half million people fought their fourth day of steady rain as the storm reached its height. Power failure halted a division of the city independent subway system in the Bronx, leaving hundreds of passengers in darkness.

Five 300-foot steel towers of the Radio Communications, Inc., at Riverhead, on Long Island, were blown down.

So terrific were the blasts of winds that struck New York's waterfront that the sailing of the Cunard White Star liner Queen Mary was delayed because of the difficulty of getting the 82,000-ton ship safely out of her dock.

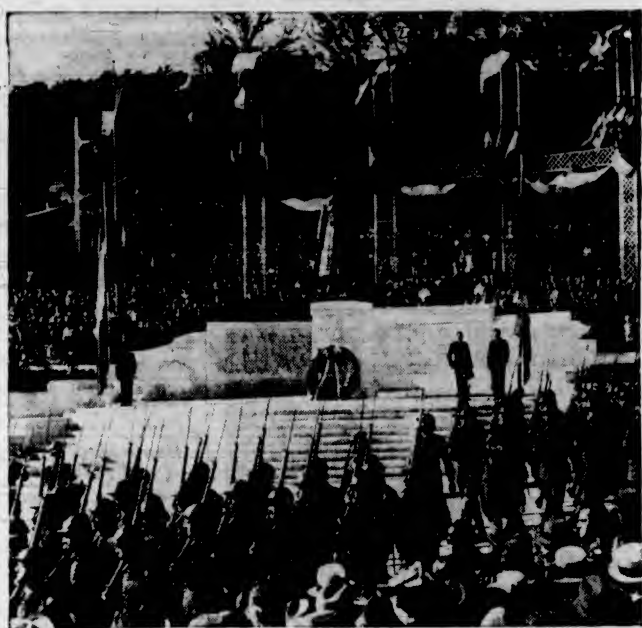

The high winds bowed over trees throughout the area, ripped loose signs and scaffolding, and imperiled pedestrians. A plate glass window in a Fifth Avenue store in New York City was smashed in the wind, and the rain pelting through the space ruined hundreds of dollars' worth of women's apparel.

STREET TRAFFIC DISRUPTED

Great sheets of water ripped across the face of the city. The winds howling among the skyscrapers and around the corners of tall buildings snapped umbrellas from the hands of men and women, and the rain flooded sewers in outlying areas, blinded motorists and in places halted all automobile traffic.

Thousands of commuters en route to their Long Island homes, jammed Pennsylvania Station after Long Island train service was disrupted. Trains that were bound for New

DEMobilization ASKED AS PRICE

Speculation was aroused by the inclusion of Sir William Mackinnon, legal adviser to the Foreign Office, in Mr. Chamberlain's entourage, some quarters interpreting this as an admission it is hoped an iron-bound peace document will be drafted.

Others to accompany the Prime Minister will be Sir Horace Wilson, the Prime Minister's closest adviser; William Strang, of the Foreign Office, a secretary and typist.

ANGLO-FRENCH STEP

The day started with an Anglo-French demarche on the Czech Government to expedite an unequivocal reply on the joint peace plan, with its basis the cessation of Sudetenland to the Reich.

It included a full Cabinet meeting, a conference of the Inner Cabinet, consultations with defence chiefs, including Viscount Gort, chief of the Imperial General Staff, and a meeting between Mr. Chamberlain and Clement Attlee and Arthur Greenwood, Labor party leaders.

Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner, demarche on the latest developments from the Dominion office.

Before the Foreign Office received the Czech Government note formally accepting the Anglo-French plan, the British and French Governments had been advised that would be done and London went ahead on that basis.

BALDWIN CONSULTED

Mr. Chamberlain lunched with Earl Baldwin, this being the first time the former Prime Minister had taken part in the swiftly-moving drama. It also raised reports that Lord Baldwin had been consulted on plans to pacify some Conservative members of Parliament who have been kicking over the party traces on the "betrayal" of Czechoslovakia.

Mr. Chamberlain's policy was denounced today by two of Britain's most powerful Conservatives outside of the Cabinet.

His former foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, and Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty at the opening of the Great War and now frequently a Government critic, started a "strong stand" campaign, said Mr. Churchill.

"Acceptance of Herr Hitler's terms involves prostration of Europe before Nazi power of which fullest advantage will certainly be taken."

Said Mr. Eden, opponent of Mr. Chamberlain's "realism," who left the Cabinet seven months ago.

"The conviction is growing that continued retreat can only lead to ever-widening confusion."

POLAND AND HUNGARY

It became clear today that Poland and Hungary expect treatment equivalent to that of Germany in the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

Both these Central European countries have large groups of their nationals living in Czechoslovakia. The Polish Ambassador had a long interview with Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary.

Hungary has left a communication at the Foreign Office putting forward claims on behalf of 700,000 Magyars inhabiting the southern border of Czechoslovakia, urging the same treatment for them as the Sudetens are receiving.

Poland, although delivering no note, has made representations in the different capitals, including London and Berlin, on behalf of 100,000 Poles who live near Teschen in Czechoslovakia.

OTHER CLAIMS

It is not clear whether the Anglo-French plan, as drafted, takes notice of these claims, but it is believed it does not. The claims of Poland and Hungary are likely to be considered by some form of international commission which would be established as soon as Hitler agrees to the terms of the plan.

A Labor delegation went this evening to Mr. Chamberlain's official residence to make a last appeal for a change of policy but ended by making it an eighty-minute conference with Viscount Halifax.

A manifesto issued by the National Council of Labor following the conference charged that the British "traditions of democracy and justice have been dishonored." And declared Hitler's ambitions "do not stop short at Czechoslovakia. His present triumph will be a new starting point for further war-like adventures. There is no longer a frontier in Europe which is safe."

LIBERAL DEMAND

Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal leader, demanded publication of the Anglo-French peace plan—"It's high time the British public knew exactly what's going on and what's being done in their name," he said in an address to the National Liberal Club.

The Liberal party, led by Sir Archibald, "condemned the Government for initiating without consulting Parliament another surrender to force in a reversal of the policy announced by the Government two weeks ago at a time when a firm lead could have preserved peace with honor."

TROOPS AT FRONTIER

PRAGUE, Sept. 22 (U.P.)—Czechoslovak troops stood at the frontier today regarding the Sudeten border lands which the Government yesterday, yielding to French and British pressure, agreed to surrender to Germany through negotiations.

Czechoslovak regarded her sacrifice as the price Adolf Hitler had demanded for peace.

Told she would not get military assistance if invasion came, the Government of the little twenty-year-old republic announced: "Nothing else remained (but) cession by negotiations, because we were alone."

At the border were massed German troops. There was no indication the Government meant to retire and permit a precipitate occupation of the border regions by jubilant Sudetens and Nazis before the exact regions to be ceded by negotiation are settled by negotiation.

ANGRY MASSES

In Prague, angry shouting masses paraded and demonstrated calling for a military dictatorship, shouting "Down With France," belittling Prime Minister Chamberlain, and promising to fight again for Czechoslovakia as they did in 1917-18.

For many hours the Government maintained in power, that Czechoslovakia's laws were still in force and that her courts were functioning—apparently in an effort to forestall any violence.

(An informed London source declared Prague's decision was reached with the knowledge that twenty-six divisions of German troops were massed across the border.)

VETERANS HAVE ANNUAL SMOKER

Canadian Legion Duncan And City Branches Fete City Council Here

Representing Canadian Legion members, from Duncan and the Pro Patria branch of that organization in Victoria, more than 320 persons crowded the Courtney Street headquarters last night at the annual smoker given in honor of the Mayor and aldermen of the city.

Although Mayor Andrew McGavin was unable to attend the function due to previous engagements, six aldermen, led by mayor representative, Ald. Stanley H. Okell, were seated at the head table, together with the branch president, A. E. Hall.

The other aldermen present were Robert Dewar, W. H. Davies, Lloyd Morgan, James Adam and Alex Peden.

Featuring songs, skits, marionette shows and band music, the gathering represented one of the most entertaining high spots in the Legion's yearly functions. Following a series of songs by P. Brady and G. Durham, President Hull welcomed the visiting members of the City Council, and each of the aldermen, in turn, replied.

Later, tap dance by R. Polts, and two comic songs by Tom Obee and Stanley James, were climaxed by a riotous puppet show staged by J. Gow. One of the novelty selections of the evening was provided by a harmonica band led by J. Short, under the able chairmanship of J. P. J. Collins.

The condition of Thomas Bidulph, fifty-five, badly injured victim, tonight remained critical, while that of Joseph Pallone, forty-five, the only other victim in hospital, showed improvement. More than a dozen other mine workers, subjected to the upheaval, said they were feeling far more pronounced effects today than immediately following the occurrence.

SUPERHUMAN EFFORTS

Today, officials told interviewers of the almost superhuman efforts of the rescue workers to save the lives of their comrades. The men, who miraculously escaped the crash, climbed down the main tunnel and laboriously penetrated the wrecked counter level where the wreckage from the bump had crushed the ten-foot ceiling down to two feet.

Through the tiny tunnel for 1,000 feet the injured, Bidulph, Pallone and Lou Schiannu, and the body of Thomas Manning were brought out on stretchers.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made, but it was expected they would be held jointly on Friday next.

TOBACCO INDUSTRY COMBINE ALLEGED

"Practices leading to the substantial control of distributors' prices, methods of distribution and the right to engage in the business of wholesale distribution of tobacco products have been built up in the past three or more years to distinctly monopolistic proportions under the guiding influence of this company, with the assistance of associations of wholesale tobacco distributors."

The statement issued by the Government declared the grave decision had been reached only after Britain and France had said they would not aid the menaced republic, and had warned destruction would follow if Czechoslovakia failed to give up lands inhabited by Germanic peoples.

The statement blamed "dynamic political forces emanating from our neighboring states," and the fact the Czechoslovaks, if they had refused, would have faced "a much more powerful adversary."

In reply to a suggestion that the issue be arbitrated, the Prague Government declared France and Britain had said they were of the "opinion that peace and freedom could not be established by such a procedure."

Her Soviet Russian ally failed her in the hour of need, said the Government.

The communiqué repeatedly emphasized the Benes Government re-

Premier Gives Pledge to League of Nations Assembly—Praises International Brigade—Places No Strings to Decision

GENEVA, Sept. 21 (P).—The Spanish Government pledged itself unconditionally today to withdraw at once all foreign volunteers on its side in the Spanish civil war. Premier Juan Negrin made the announcement before the League of Nations Assembly, which he asked to send an international committee to Spain to verify that the undertaking was carried out.

Dr. Negrin told the assembly the withdrawal would include not only all foreigners, but also those who had become Spanish nationals since the beginning of the civil war in July, 1936.

END INTERVENTION

The Premier declared: "The Government of Spain is anxious to show her determination to remove all pretext of placing blame on her for failure to obtain an end to foreign intervention in Spain."

(The International Committee for Non-Intervention in Spain, with headquarters in London, agreed July 5 on a plan for evacuation of foreign volunteers from both sides in the Spanish civil war.)

The Spanish Government in accepting the plan, estimated there were 10,000 foreigners on its side and 100,000 with the insurgents. The insurgents on August 22 replied with an acceptance subject to so many conditions that London considered they had in effect killed the plan. Negrin paid tribute to the valor of the International Brigade fighting with the Government troops. The brigade has included many Canadians, members of the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion.

ACTING ALONE

He made it clear there were no strings attached to the Government's decision—that it was not subject to a withdrawal of any kind from the insurgent side, nor did it require any action of the League. League sources said one reason for the Spanish Government's decision was persistent reports Britain was considering putting the Anglo-Italian Easter accord into effect. That accord was made contingent upon a "settlement" in Spain.

Negrin was said by these sources to have recognized that if the Spanish Government sent out all foreign volunteers, it would be difficult for Britain to overlook the volunteers on the insurgent side, thus, perhaps, necessitating some action about them before the Anglo-Italian accord could become effective.

Mrs. W. M. Halliday Removed by Death At Her Home Here

There passed away yesterday, after a lengthy illness, at the family residence, 77 Linden Avenue, Mrs. Jane Richmond Halliday, wife of William M. Halliday, for many years at Alert Bay as teacher and Indian agent. She was born at Perth, Ontario, and later her family moved to Chesley, Bruce County, and she came from there to British Columbia forty-two years ago.

Mrs. Halliday is survived by her husband; two children, Mrs. Nell Robertson, 8184 East Boulevard, Vancouver, and Tudent Shaw Halliday, who is an employee of the United States Government at Bakersfield, Cal.

While living at Alert Bay, she was noted for her hospitality and friendliness to, not only the residents in the immediate vicinity, but all and sundry who came to Alert Bay.

The remains are replying in Haywards, B.C. Funeral services will be held on Friday at 3:30 p.m. Following the services the cortege will proceed to Royal Oak Burial Park, where cremation will take place in the crematorium.

Have Plans for Big Auditorium

VANCOUVER, Sept. 21 (P).—Mayor G. C. Miller said today he would call a meeting of Vancouver citizens shortly to discuss plans for construction of a civic auditorium here.

A draft plan of the structure, cost of which has been tentatively set at $750,000, will be placed before the meeting, the mayor said. Cost of the land necessary for the proposed auditorium will be about $250,000.

He went through fire and water and most of his father's money for her.

NOTED ACTOR WILL DIRECT

Beaux-Arts Engage Raymond Guyler and Nancy Pritchard for Season

One of the most ambitious and promising Little Theatre schemes yet projected in Victoria is forecast in the announcement by the Beaux-Arts Society that it has decided to have a professional director for a term of six months, and to this end has engaged Raymond Guyler, recently arrived in this country from London, and his wife, Miss Nancy Pritchard, well known to the English stage.

To carry through the project, the Beaux-Arts has secured an ideal building in the Oak Bay district to house all activities connected with the experiment. Work is to begin at once, Mr. Guyler and his wife already having arrived.

"We consider we are singularly fortunate in being privileged to have the services of two such experienced and able theatre people to launch an experiment we have contemplated for some time," said Brian Burdon-Murphy, president of the Beaux-Arts, in announcing the news last evening. "The club will hold an informal 'at home' next Sunday afternoon to give members an opportunity of meeting Mr. Guyler and his wife."

ARE WELL KNOWN

Both Mr. Guyler and Miss Pritchard are well known to the contemporary English theatre, their last active association therewith being the great religious drama, "Murder in the Cathedral," with which he toured in England, and of which, with the assistance of his wife, he was stage director in the New York presentation, which ran from January to March this year.

Mr. Guyler was born in Liverpool, England. His real name is White, his father being Frederick White, now retired, formerly general manager of the Sun Insurance Company, Ltd. He adopted his mother's name, Guyler, when he went on the stage. He was educated at Dulwich College, the University of Halle, Wittenberg, Germany, and at London University. He was, in fact, in Germany at the outbreak of the war, but managed to get back to England the day after the expiry of the British ultimatum, with threepence in his pocket.

He joined the Artists' Rifles, and later took a commission in the R.F.A., becoming adjutant of his brigade, and was blown up and killed three weeks before the Armistice.

PREPARES FOR STAGE

After the war, he entered London University to study economics. Later he took up the study of singing and the stage. Meanwhile he had founded a business, of which he is still a director. Also at this time he founded the Old Alleman (Dulwich College Old Boys) Operatic and Dramatic Society, of which he is now vice-president.

Since then he has been continuously associated with the theatre art world in one capacity or another. He has played a great variety of character parts under various arrangements, one of his most recent acting engagements being in 1936 in the leading part opposite Miss Gwen Frangon-Davies in "Return to Yesterday" at the Embassy Theatre. This was directed by Miss Margaret Webster, for whom he has also stage-managed. He has also stage-managed for Ashley Dukes at the Mercury Theatre, London, renowned as the centre of the English theatre's intellectual life. Last year, after playing in Shakespeare's "Cymbeline" with Bernard Shaw's edition of the last act, he joined the company of "Murder in the Cathedral," which he accompanied to the United States in the capacity of stage-manager.

NANCY PRITCHARD

His wife, Nancy Pritchard, is a strong member of the team. It will interest many people here to know that she is a Canadian girl, her birthplace being Winnipeg, and her father, Rev. E. C. R. Pritchard, now rector of St. Vincent's Episcopal Church, Seattle. She was educated in Winnipeg, Vancouver and at the University of Washington, Seattle, graduating from the last in English literature and drama. A contemporary at the university was Wilbur Sparrow, who directed the Beaux-Arts winning team in the recent Dominion Drama Festival at Winnipeg. She went to London in 1933, and there met her husband. Both of them in the Christmas season of 1933 were playing at the Gate Theatre, London. Later she played in various repertory companies in England and also toured the country, eventually reaching the West End in London, where she came under the favorable notice of the critics particularly in connection with Madeline Carroll under the direction of Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

was not heavy, though several power lines fell and some outlying highways were blocked by toppling trees.

SEWERS OVERFLOW

The wind's velocity ranged up to six miles an hour. It was accompanied by a driving rain that, in some parts of Montreal, caused sewage lines to overflow. In Sherbrooke, between 800 and 900 trees were estimated to have been blown down. On the main streets, several signs were ripped away and big plate glass windows blown in.

Stores as big as a man's fist were swept up and carried through the air at the peak of the storm in the Eastern townships.

At Granby, theatres and other late-running establishments were forced to close when the power failed.

Ever Wonder Why You're Constipated?

Do you ever have days when you just have to drag yourself along, when you feel tired, sunk-behind because of that constipation? Turn why not find out the real cause of your trouble? What have you had to eat lately? Just things like meat, bread and potatoes? If that's it, you may not have to look any farther. It's likely your trouble is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and aids elimination. If "bulk" is what you lack, your ticket is a dish of crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need plus Nature's great intestinal tonic, Vitamin B. Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars." Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

From your Goodyear dealer you can get the world's greatest and safest complete tire... the G-3 All-Weather Tread casing and the Goodyear LifeGuard. And you will find this justly celebrated combination priced lower than you would expect for such outstanding value.

The same dealer... right in your own neighbourhood... offers you a choice of no fewer than 8 Goodyears for automobiles... at different prices. There are Goodyears in practically all price-ranges... but each one clearly bears the Goodyear name and carries this company's written guarantee against road-hazards as well as defects. The Goodyear line includes no "specials"... no nameless tires.

So... whether your particular service demands the ultra-safety and the super-mileage of the Goodyear G-3 and the LifeGuard... or whether your needs will be met amply by the lower-priced Goodyear R-1 with the diamond tread or the very low-priced Goodyear Speedway... step into the nearest Goodyear dealer's today and let him help you.

He was chosen as the Goodyear Selected Dealer because he is recognized as the leading tire merchant of that community. He sells far more tires than any other dealer... because he gives you value and service unapproached. You should see him now.

AT GODEBERG

Premier Chamberlain today meets Herr Hitler
at Godeberg, and will outline to the German ruler the plan proposed by France and Great Britain for the settlement of the Sudeten German issue. In his turn Herr Hitler will, perhaps, make counter-proposals, for the Franco-British agreement on the subject may not march entirely with his demands. What will be suggested to him is that Czechoslovakia should cede certain portions of the Sudeten area to Germany, those portions that contain a preponderance of German inhabitants. The Nazi plans for the future of that portion of Central Europe are more far sweeping. In the interests of immediate peace, the hope is that Herr Hitler will be satisfied with an installment of what he wants. On the other hand, it is not known if the Franco-British proposal is final; it may be subject to revision.

While nothing is known definitely about the character of the previous conversation between
Mr. Chamberlain and Herr Hitler at Berchtesgaden, an outline has been given of what the latter
proposed in line with his own conception
as put forward in Mein Kampf. That implied
the surrender of Germany of all the Sudeten
areas of Czechoslovakia, which would mean giving Germany control of some of the Czech mountain defences. A second requirement is believed to be assurances that the Czech foreign policy will be in harmony with that of Germany, which would mean something in the nature of a suzerainty.
Such a move would automatically put an end to Czechoslovakia's understandings with France and Russia, and would, in this respect, leave the way
open for Germany's Drang Nach Osten. A third desire of Germany is the co-ordination of all Czechoslovakia with the economic system of the Reich, including German disposition of the output of such plants as the Skoda arms factory.

It remains to be seen to what extent France
and Great Britain are willing that Czechoslovakia should become a vassal State of Germany. There is also the question of Czechoslovakia herself, now subjected to so much diplomatic pressure. It would appear as if, while the Sudeten Germans, who are a part of a State, are to be given the right of self-determination, that right is to be denied to the State itself of which they are a part. The negotiations that can reach a settlement on this viewpoint must engender bitter feelings which cannot augur well for the future. The consoling fact of the situation is that both France and Great Britain are exercising all their authority to preserve peace, and that peace can only be preserved at the expense of Czechoslovakia, and even then because of a willingness to compromise on the part of Herr Hitler.
It is the latter who holds the key to the situation that has arisen. Of the issue, The New York Times says: "The immediate consequences are unpredictable, but never will war gulf have been firmly or more dramatically fixed."

Prior to the latest conversations between the powers the understanding was that France had guaranteed the independence of Czechoslovakia,
and, moreover, France has a military understanding with Russia, which is regarded by Herr Hitler as standing in the way of German designs.
Germany is anxious to put an end to the Franco-Soviet pact. Hilbert Czechoslovakia had been regarded as a link between Paris and Moscow,
and that link Germany seeks to sever. The task will have been begun by the absorption of the Sudeten areas, or even a part of them, in the Reich, and that is an inevitable installment of any solution of the present problem. Unless, indeed, Czechoslovakia is determined to fight for their retention. Even then she could not fight successfully alone, and without aid the drama
would be enacted of a small nation being swallowed up by a more powerful neighbor, a happening which would strengthen Germany in her determination to pursue her policy outlined in Mein Kampf to its ultimate conclusion.

After the dramatic meeting at Berchtesgaden
the curtain goes up at Godeberg today on the second act of one of the most fateful political plays of these latter days. Mr. Neville Chamberlain is the spokesman for Great Britain and France, and appears in the role of stooping to conquer in order that the peace of Europe may be preserved for the time being. He is not threatening, he is not suing, simply trying to find a way out of the present impasse. There is this optimistic note in the situation, namely that the Germans are flattered by the British Prime Minister's visits to their country. They welcome
Mr. Chamberlain because he brings with him hopes of peace, and he is daring much as a realist with that consummation in view.

SELF-DETERMINATION

What of the policy of self-determination if it is carried to its logical conclusion? Czechoslovakia is composed of a hodge-podge of nationalities. Its population is 14,729,000, according to the census of 1930, and of these, 9,756,000 are Czechs. The Germans number 3,318,000, Magyars, 719,000; Poles and Ukrainians, 568,000; Jewish, 190,000; Polish, 100,000 and Rumanian, 14,000. The Czechoslovakian State was carved out of Bohemia,
which for seven centuries contained many Germans, who, throughout that long period, lived with the Czechs. They lived uneasily, and when the Great War came the German inhabitants aided with the Austro-German alliance and the Czechs with the Allies. It was then that a feud centuries old was brought to a head. It was at the Peace Conference that the Czechoslovakian Republic was created and the Sudeten Germans,
included in the State, only remained a part of it with growing resentment, because they feel that they are a subject race.

It is not only in Czechoslovakia that there is a German minority. The same condition holds good in twelve States of Europe. There is no race in Europe that has such a large proportion of its people governed by foreigners. Herr Hitler wants to change all that, and his initial move was in the annexation of Austria. His second coup is to be the absorption of the Sudeten Germans, with their consent. He could probably secure the consent of all German minorities in other European States if he set his mind to the purpose.

What is happening in the case of Czechoslovakia
may well create a disturbing precedent, which contains in it all the seeds of a future war. After all, self-determination of the kind noted, if it is
to prevail all round, becomes a principle of nationalism itself. The author of the term self-determination was the late President Wilson, of
the United States. What sort of turmoil would
this continent be in if it were applied in the United States, or even in Canada?

CANADIAN NATIONAL LOSSES.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company, with no watered stock, has paid no dividends on its common shares since 1931. Sir Edward Beatty reminds the country of this in an address at Port Arthur, and says, moreover, that the company has received unfair treatment throughout its history. Sir Edward, too, reminds the country that the C.P.R. has attempted loyally to co-operate with the Canadian National Railways in effecting economies, but "the difficulties of reconciling
co-operation with competition are very serious."
During a period of seventeen years the losses
suffered by the Canadian National total over $1,000,000,000. State ownership, faced by a continually-growing demand from the taxpayers, admits the principle of piecemeal unification of the transportation system of the country. Sir Edward says that ultimately, "after a long and weary process," the piecemeal policy would effect
the same results as would be achieved by unifika-tion of control, "but the stimulating effects on the national economy which would be produced
by an announcement that the constant drain of Canadian National deficits is to be ended, or, at least, greatly lessened, will be missing. In the meantime, we shall have piled up more hundreds of millions of dollars of debt on the people of Canada." As to the division of benefits under unification, Sir Edward says, "the Canadian Pacific will gain nothing except its share of the savings to be effected." That company is not asking for any guarantee of its stocks or securities.

LACK OF LEADERSHIP

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, a leader of American thought, asks: "What has happened to Democracy in these later years of its history?
Why is it not producing the powerful and constructive leadership which it so abundantly enjoyed in its earlier years? Why are there no enjoyed in our American official life any names
to be mentioned in the same class with the founders of the Republic, and the outstanding political leaders of widely-varying types and views
who distinguished the first century and a quarter of our nation's history? Why is England in similar plight? Where in our time is the successor to Burke, or Fox, or Pitt, to Peel or Cobden, or Gladstone, or Balfour or Asquith? France, too, must search far and long for a present-day Thiers or Gambetta."

The fact is that the world is becoming too complicated for a single brain to have much effect on its destinies, while at the same time mankind is living in a vortex of opinions ever since the political and moral revolution induced by the Great War.
In a century or two sanity may make itself felt.

A radio announcer says that wireless strengthens faith in the unseen. It is necessary to have such faith if much that is said in broadcasts is to be believed, and it would be well, sometimes,
if such faith were tempered by judgment.

are so formed that it is scarcely possible for us to stand
neither in our hearts, although we may deem it prudent
to appear so in our actions.—Colton.

Note and Comment

By Sanham Graves

If you are in favor of the parliamentary form of government,
may well create a disturbing precedent, which
contains in it all the seeds of a future war. After
all, self-determination of the kind noted, if it is
to prevail all round, becomes a principle of nationalism itself. The author of the term self-
determination was the late President Wilson, of
the United States. What sort of turmoil would
this continent be in if it were applied in the United States, or even in Canada?

The best of Liberals will tell you that nothing is more disastrous to the fortunes of a party than to be too strongly in power; to have the whole say, and to rule without necessity for open debate. Willy-nilly, such power leads to autocratic methods, no matter how careful party leaders may be. It is through debate in the Legislature, that wisdom, if ever, may emerge.

The best of government comes when two parties, who know what they stand for, are fairly evenly matched; and must, therefore, depend at all times on the will of the people for continued guidance. Not will it serve to have parties pledged to two different systems; because then their thoughts will never meet on the same ground, and there will be no debate, only conflict without the wish towards settlement.

Divided nationally and provincially
by discussions within their ranks which forced them uniformly
out of office, Conservatives have done well in the last few years, in the face of overwhelming odds, to escape dissolution. The breaks, and all of them, have been against them. Now the tide may have turned.
Nationally, the party is marshalling
its forces, and getting its wits about it once more. Provincially, it has the opportunity of building again,
from the ground up; and that is an opportunity granted to few parties
in precisely the same way.

There is plenty of material to build with. There are, for instance, in the neighborhood of 100,000 electors who have voted Conservative in this Province through thick and thin. There is a rising group of informed and able spokesmen,
who know how to conduct themselves on the public platform, and who will carry the fight to the opponent's camp. Even in the issue of leadership, there is not a dearth
but plenty of choice. Lessons learned in the cool shades of opposition have gone home. All these are signs of life, not of disintegration.

Never in the provincial history of the party, have Conservatives had such an opportunity for a clean break with the past, and for the upbuilding of policies which will express the realities of the day. Elec-torates are alert and informed. They have begun to see through the frustrations of government by demonstrations, and government by necessity, and to look for a return to those things which are practical and capable of due performance within the means of the Province.

The new party, unless it will, need not be bound by the sins of omission and of commission by the old.
The back-biting, fractious days
of partisan bickering have gone, and people are looking for a sane and sensible lead. Moreover, they do not seek, nor expect, miracles. They know the rabbit-and-hat trick, and are tired of it. As never before, they want solid, constructive policies,
with which they may feel secure.

It is not within the bounds of possibility that one party alone may supply all that is required; but from the interplay of two comes that exchange of ideas which in the past has meant legislative wisdom. That is the basis of the parliamentary system, no matter what you may label the party that is in, and the party that is out. The parliamentary system is our own system; and with all of its abuses and faults, and best that has so far been devised
to speak in the name of the people,
and all of them.

Not alone Conservatives but all groups will have to go back to that base line if they wish to preserve the parliamentary way. It has been attacked and overthrown in many parts of the world, but always at the loss of something which was precious to the people themselves,
their freedom. Recent world events show what can happen when one man alone is given the right to do, or to say.

The parliamentary system rests primarily upon people who believe in it; and cannot be implemented except through the play and interplay of two parties, neither of which should be overwhelmingly strong.
Given such conditions, you get the benefits of the parliamentary system, as it has been tried and tested for several hundred years. That is why the Kamloops convention is of importance, not only to Conservatives but to everyone in the Province. A strong Conservative party is needed to restore a balance that has been missing ever long.

ARRIVES AFTER HUNTING TRIP

Hollywood Director Considering Picture "Shot" in Canadian Rockies

Two hulking grizzlies, a moose,
and two caribou weren't the only
trophies brought back to civilization
by John T. "Jack" Conway, M-G-M film director, who arrived at the Empress Hotel here yesterday from Vancouver, after a fifteen-day trek
into the mountainous country north of Mount Robson.

For although no scripts have yet
been prepared, the veteran movie
official is so enthused with Canada's big game frontiers that he is seriously thinking of "shooting" an outdoor epic in the Canadian Rockies.

OUTDOOR PICTURES

Evidence of the movie trend toward outdoor pictures was noted in the last few films produced by the director, particularly "Yank at Oxford" and "Labeled Lady."

"Perhaps you remember the trout scene sequence in which William Powell got into difficulties in hard-pan water with a trout? I got that idea on a fishing trip, and I have a strong hunch that several more will come out of this expedition," the director said with a smile.

Originally, the expedition had been planned to include Clark Gable, but due to a last-minute
change in personal plans, the actor

WILL BE SENT SOUTH

"His guns came along just the same, and although he won't be satisfied himself until he gets up here
next year, it was one of his guns that got the first grizzly. And what a shot that was! I got in the first shot across a canyon, and in the next seven seconds I'll swear
the grizzly covered a good seventy-five yards. When he reared up on his hind legs to look around,
I nailed him with the second shot.
I bagged my second bear with a single burst." The animals will be skinned and mounted in Canada and sent down to his home in Beverly Hills, Cal.

Mr. Conway was met by his wife in Vancouver when he arrived out of the hinterland, deeply tanned and fifteen pounds lighter. The couple came here for an indefinite stay by way of celebrating the twelfth anniversary of their wedding. His wife, a pretty, vivacious brunette, is the daughter of Francis actor. Prior to his vacation, Mr.

Conway had just finished directing

the city's edge.

Armed Sudeten Labor Corps boys
defended and guarded the barricades.

Members of the Czechoslovak Government's agreement yesterday to hand
the Sudeten regions to Germany started a systematic execution of well-laid plans to police and rule
the territory immediately.

NOMINALLY IN CHARGE

In Eger, former Sudeten German Party regional headquarters, Czechoslovak police still were nominally in charge yesterday. But Vigilance Corps and veteran associations patrolled the streets along with the police. Posters urging the people to remain calm were stuck up all over the city.

Through the Sudetenland the German-Slovak people were informing the streets in orderly fashion, all wearing the Swastika armbands and crying "Heil Hitler."

Hardly more than a week ago the Government had put a severe restriction upon such demonstrations
when martial law was declared in the Sudeten regions to stop disorders.

EXPECTS CORPS TO MARCH

Early this morning the streets of Asch were jammed with people who had expected the Sudeten Free Corps to march in from Germany
during the night.

Several thousand persons gathered at the frontier post of Wil-denau near Asch. They pulled up the border posts and the border was left wide open. The Vigilance Corps, with rifles, occupied the cus-tomhouse streamers in from Germany with black-uniformed
S.A. (elite guard) and brown-uniformed
S.S. (storm troopers). It was the first time Nazi uniforms had been openly worn in Czechoslovakia.

LUCK THWARTED

After careful perusal of the entries and other horse racing data,
"Mac" decided that Leyburn was a safe bet. Business prevented him from visiting the track, so he decided to enter the grandstand
and 15 cents for carfare to the Willows Park. An hour later the friend telephoned "Mac" with the sad news that Leyburn did not have a chance to win. He advised that the bet be placed upon a favorite. Reluctantly "Mac" consented. Not long after "Mac"
was seen literally tearing his hair
when he learned Leyburn romped home to pay $52,700. Last time
our tabloids friend visited the Hollywood Avenue football grounds
he commented on their poor appearance without a blade of grass.
"Did you come here to watch a game or to graze?" a spectator
asked him. "It seems to me,"
Bill, the Broad Street barber,
sagely remarked, "that parents
grew up quite well considering
there were no youth movements
to uphold their characters."

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of September 22, 1888)

Survey for Railway Bridge.—H. J. Cambie, C.E., and A. R.
Green, C.E., returned to New Westminster yesterday, having down the river making a preliminary survey for a railroad bridge across the Fraser River, somewhere in the neighborhood of Tibury Island. It is said the Municipalities of Richmond and Delta are anxious to obtain railroad communication with Vancouver, and will give every possible assistance to a project leading towards that end.

Prepare Incorporation Papers.—Papers for the incorporation of a company bearing the name of the National Electric Light and Motor Company, Limited, have been prepared. The capital is $100,000. The objects of the company are stated to be the generation and sale of electricity for light and power, the construction and working of tramways, and the construction and sale of electrical goods of every description. The head office of the company will be at Victoria, where the workshops will be erected. The National Company have an application before the aldermen for a tramway franchise.

To Locate Line for Survey.—A survey party under Mr. McKay,
C.E., left the city yesterday morning to locate a line from Saanich
to Victoria for the Victoria, Saanich & Westminster Railway.

"More Ado—"

Perhaps they are building dance
halls with better foundations now
... or perhaps the jitter bugs are not as bad as some people think.
Personally we can remember the days when scores were injured
when auditoriums collapsed under excessive floor stamping during the introduction of the archaic Charleston ... and to date ...
touch wood ... all of our city
structures have survived the advent of swing music. "One beauty about being stoney broke
this week is that I haven't carfare enough to go out and lose
more money at the races" opined
one of our friends from the Emerald Isle, which reminds us
that if our will power holds out
for another couple of days we won't get out to the races this year either.—J.A.M.

Glancing Over Sport

Do you know that when the New York Yankees, world's baseball champions and recent winners of their third straight American League pennant, played the St.
Louis Browns, Monday, and dropped their third in a row, only 751 paid admissions watched the game? I wish the City Basketball League and the Dominions
would get together on the matter of the High School gym for the season, which will soon be getting under way. As far as I can understand the Dominions already have the floor and the league wants it, too. A joint meeting of everybody concerned should settle the dispute once and for all.
... Slagland, last year's winner,
and Seabassett are already entered in the Santa Anita 100,000
race in California. As War Admiral is expected to retire after his October 1 race, the great son of Man of War will undoubtedly be missing. Right after Willie Turnesa won the United States
national amateur golf crown,
somebody in the gallery ran away
with his putter, the magic wand
of his victory, for remember he had sixteen one-putters out of the twenty-nine holes necessary to end the argument.—J.D.

The Campbells Are Comin'

"De ye ken where I kin buy a set o' pipes?" is the request that has been conferred officials of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau on three different occasions this year
from wandering sons of the Highlands. But apparently the pipes are not to be purchased in Vancouver, "Victoria." The latest
call for a "clarinet in a plaid
skirt" came from a resident of San Francisco who wrote in part
as follows: "Time is also right
for me to be playing pipes rather than to be replaced with a piano organ." He went on to say that he would appreciate a set no matter how old
—and he was willing to pay for them. There are several rumors about as to the scarcity of the instrument, and why they are wanted. Regarding the former story has it that due to racial prejudice all the pipes have been locked up some place ... out of carshot. As to the demand for them in California, there is no
rumor to the effect that the residents have been so thrilled by the appearance of the local pipe
bands and the skill of their pipes
that they want to adopt them in the South. The other, still unverified, hints that a band composed of the instruments is being organized across the line and the pipes
are needed to form a "cacophonous section of the whole"—W.F.F.

CONVENTION TO BE HELD SOON

All Young Liberal Groups on Vancouver Island Will Meet at Duncan

W. Allison, president of the Duncan Twentieth Century Young Liberal Association, was the speaker at a meeting of the local organization held at Liberal headquarters Tuesday evening.

Mr. Allison discussed the forthcoming convention of all Young Liberal groups of Vancouver Island, which will be held in Duncan on Monday, October 10. He said that over 200 delegates are expected to attend with a delegation of more than twenty-five from Victoria. The party will open at 10 a.m. with the registration of delegates. A dance will be held in the evening, starting at 9 o'clock.

Elected to fill the vacancy of vice-president, owing to the resignation of Keith MacFarlane, was Richard Flanagan, who has been an ardent

member of the organization for some time.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Committee reports received included the debating organization, given by Robert Oasleton, who said that the committee would meet on Tuesday, September 27, at Liberal headquarters. James N. Bawden, chairman of the ways and means committee, reported that plans for a dance to be held on Friday, October 7, in the Oak Bay Theatre Hall, were well under way. Henry Cassillo, chairman of the sports committee, reported that two football teams would be entered in a league the first practice to be held in Beacon Hill Park on Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Miss Mary Grant announced full details of the play-writing contest, to be held under the auspices of the association, would be announced shortly.

Two sketches, written by Robert Oasleton, were produced by the members. Mr. Oasleton conducted the plays. Peter Hartnell, editor of the Twentieth Century News, announced the next issue of the official bulletin of the association would appear shortly before the Island convention.

Refreshments were served by Miss D. Fairclough's social committee. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 4.

JANITORS MEET SCHOOL BOARD

Saanich Trustees Interview Employees in Interests of Better Understanding

Members of the Saanich School Board last evening interviewed fifteen janitors employed in the municipality's schools for the purpose of creating a more complete understanding between the board and its employees. A meeting of this nature has never been held before in Saanich, and the trustees were anxious to have the talk with the janitors. General topics came up for discussion.

Due to the increase in the number of children attending Royal Oak School, from the vicinity of Cordova Bay, from forty-five to seventy-five, the board accepted a contract from the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, Ltd., to provide an extra school bus over this route. The added transportation facility will cost the municipality $210 each month. The board also received a delegation from the company comprising Harold husband, general manager, and Thomas Kay.

BIG SAVING

In a report to the board, from the secretary, it was shown that under the new fire insurance policy adopted at the last meeting, a saving of $1,630.43 for 1938, 1939 and 1940 has been effected. Under the former policy, the premiums would have amounted to $3,262.06. The present premiums are $1,631.63 for the three years. It was pointed out that all Saanich schools are given 100 per cent coverage for the total value of the policy being $192,000.

Permission was received from Dr. S. J. Willis, provincial superintendent of education, to grant a holiday to all school children next Wednesday, the occasion being the annual Saanich Day. The Saanich Public Schools Athletic Association was authorized to make the necessary arrangements for providing bus transportation for children competing in the field events.

In answer to a communication from Ian Elmhurst asking for the use of the Mount View High School auditorium for provincial recreational classes at a rental of $2 per night, the board decided a fee of $3 would have to be charged to cover janitor and other ordinary expenses.

Accounts in full for the month of August totaling $2,777.28 and outstanding accounts for September amounting to $11,871.16 were passed by the board.

Court of Appeal

Victoria Sitings

Ret. (A. vs. Andrew Ritchie (R). At the close of the argument of the Court allowed the appeal.

The respondent is a fruit grower residing in Glenora Municipality, near Kelowna. He was charged before Superintendent Magistrate T. F. Williams with having failed to take out a licence to operate a packing house, as required by the B.C. Fruit Board. Having been found guilty and fined $50, he appealed before Judge Swanson, who allowed the appeal. The Crown thereupon launched the present appeal.

W. R. Long, counsel for Ritchie, claimed his client was under no obligation to take out a licence as he was only packing his own fruit, or that same members of the board had led him to believe he need not take out a licence if he marketed the crop through a duly licensed packing house.

J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., for the appellant, W. R. Long, for the respondent.

John Byrne and Nellie Byrne (R) vs. William J. Wilson and Harry Yates (A).—This is an appeal from the judgment of Mr. Justice Fisher delivered on June 28, 1938, awarding the plaintiffs $2,646.17 damages for injuries sustained by Nellie Byrne when she was struck by a motor car driven by the defendant Yates.

The defendant Yates is a minor and William J. Wilson, who is his stepfather, is joined in the action as the person liable for the negligent act of the minor under the Motor Vehicle Act.

Mrs. Nellie Byrne, the wife of John Byrne, was struck and knocked down near the corner of Heatley Avenue and Hastings Street, in the City of Vancouver, on April 6, 1937, and severely injured. The learned trial judge fixed the damages at $5,292.35, and having found that Mrs. Byrne and the defendant Yates were equally at fault, gave judgment against the defendants for $2,646.17.

The appellant Yates claims there is no evidence of negligence on his part, while the appellant Wilson denies liability on the grounds that he is not the parent or guardian of Yates.

It appears that the respondent Wilson signed the necessary declara-

DELEGATES WILL SEE GOVERNMENT

Arrangements Being Made for Meeting With Attorney-General Over Blubber Bay Rioting

To interview the Provincial Attorney-General and members of the Provincial Cabinet, concerning rioting at Blubber Bay last Saturday night which resulted in the arrest of nearly a score of strikers of the Pacific Line Company and sent several to hospital, a delegation, headed by Colin Cameron, M.P.P. for Comox, and Harold E. Winch, member for Vancouver East, is arranging to come to Victoria.

Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council voted last night to lend assistance to the visiting delegates and to arrange for a public meeting to hear speakers on the Blubber Bay situation. A committee of the Trades Council was appointed to handle the mass meeting, which Mr. Winch and Mr. Cameron are expected to speak.

The council also carried a resolution of protest to Attorney-General Wimmer concerning the alleged action of police during Saturday night's fracas at the Government wharf at Blubber Bay.

What Today Means

"VIRGO"

If September 22 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. until 12 noon; from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 8 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a.m.; from 6 to 8 p.m. and from 10 p.m. until midnight.

It might be well for you to plan for tomorrow. If it should be necessary, force yourself into an orderly frame of mind and do nothing in a happy-go-lucky fashion, for this is a day that call for everything being done in a systematic manner. Do not count on anyone to remind you of what you should or should not do today. You must count on your own initiative to get whatever results you are after in either a social or commercial way. This is a good day to try to analyze the mental attitude of the average person with whom you are thrown into close contact. Your manner of approach may have much to do with the reception that will be accorded to you, in any case you might make. Questions of a personal nature are likely to meet with rebuffs unless justified, so be careful in this respect. Be careful how literally you take whimsically-made remarks, for many things will be said in jest that must not be accepted seriously. Married and engaged couples and those seeking a way and means of becoming engaged should keep in mind that: "In everything one must consider the end."

If a woman and September 22 is your birthday, you ought to be a very genial, happy woman, with a large circle of dependable friends. You probably love to be on the go and, if not interested in sports, you should be in the theatre or social welfare work. You ought to use your hands very cleverly and thus win a reputation for doing skillful work. You will do well to remember that it never pays to tell all that you know to anyone. As a sales-lady, model, entertainer, artist, musician, writer, actress or decorator your financial results may exceed your expectations. You will more than likely display exceptionally good judgment in the selection of a husband.

The child born on September 22 generally has unlimited energy, and is frequently blessed with a retentive memory. Children born on this date often do exceptionally good work at school. This youngster's future seems to be one of great promise.

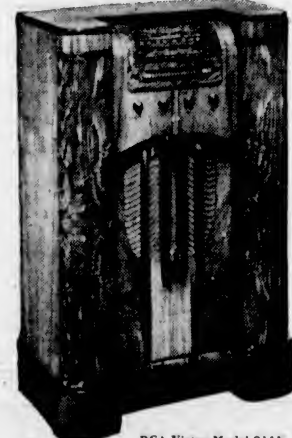

If a man and September 22 is your natal day, loyalty to family, friends and business associates is imperative if you expect to make a permanent success of your life.

Thousands of pilgrims visit this shrine every year, particularly during the Summer months.

what caused the eczema was not definitely known, but it was believed that some skins were more sensitive than others and also that food might be a factor also.

Today, as eczema is still the commonest form of skin ailment, a close study of its cause and treatment is being made in clinics throughout the world.

In the clinic of Dr. J. H. Swartz, Massachusetts General Hospital, infantile eczema is divided into two types:

1. The type found only on the face.
 2. The type that involves the scalp, face, in front of ear, behind the ear, arms and legs, and the small of the back. It is this type that is found later in the bend of the elbow and knee.

The first type shows a chapped-like condition of the face and is due to exposure to sun, wind, and soaps and water.

The second type is more complicated and is classified as follows:

(a) Sensitization eczema - skin sensitive or allergic to substances from within and without.
 (b) Mycotic eczema - due to an organism.

(c) Combined sensitization and mycotic eczema.

In the first or "sensitization" class due to skin sensitiveness, the substance causing the eczema may come in contact with the skin direct, or it may come by means of the blood to the skin. By the use of skin and other tests it has been found that the most offending foods in order of importance are eggs, milk, wheat, barley, spinach, oats, beef, corn, potato and tomato. It has also been found that if the patient is sensitive to cow's milk, he is, as a rule, sensitive to other forms of milk such as goat's milk. Treatment is to locate the food or other substance and leave it out of the diet.

In the second class or mycotic eczema, the organism causing the eczema is usually found in the mother's hands. This means that the mother's hands must be treated at the same time as the baby.

In the third or combined class (sensitization and an organism) the treatment, of course, would be to get rid of the organism and to test for the offending foods or other substances.

I am not mentioning the various ointments used at the clinic because a baby with a chronic eczema should be under the care of a physician at home or at a clinic.

A Princess Apron

Colorful Vegetable—Applique Included in Pattern

AN easy apron—in every way. Easy to look at, easy to slip into, easy to wear, easy to sew, easy to launder. Compliments will fly about when you wear it. The colorful vegetable applique is so delightful against the white muslin apron with its vivid bands. The amusing pockets are useful, too, for the one hundred and one things you pick up about the house. It's a joy to sew, for it cuts in one-piece from shoulder to hem. The shaped gorges are quickly joined on the sewing machine. Bias binds finish the edges. Note the small diagram, the cross strap at back, that prevents it from slipping off the shoulders. If you choose a printed cotton, the vegetable applique is effective in a monotone cotton. Style No. 3489 is designed for sizes small, medium and large. The medium size requires 2½ yards of 35-inch material with 8 yards of binding, ½ yard of 20-inch for collar and ¼ yard of 18-inch for tomato appliques.

Miss Cook Weds Mr. A. Cochrane At Chemainus

CHEMAINUS, Sept. 21.—Calvary Baptist Church, Chemainus, beautifully with autumn flowers and a bridal arch of purple, blue and white Michaelmas daisies, golden rod and asters, was the scene of a lovely wedding when Gladys Margaret, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cook, became the bride of Mr. Alexander Wilson Cochrane, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cochrane. Chemainus, with Rev. Mr. Daffoe officiating. Mrs. Ed Perry presided at the organ. Miss Phyllis Cook, Duncan, sang during the signing of the register. "O Promise Me" and later, while the bride donned her traveling costume, "I Love You Truly."

LOVELY BRIDE
The bride, given in marriage by her father, made a charming picture in her wedding gown of white crepe-back satin, made with a fitted bodice, square neck and Elizabethan collar of lace. Deep lace insets were also used in the back of the bodice, and in the long flowing sleeves, which were fitted into tight deep cuffs, trimmed with tiny buttons. The back of the bodice was also finished with buttons, the long graceful skirt falling into a short square train. The bridal veil of French embroidered net was worn with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses and white snapdragons.

The bridesmaid, Miss Laurel Cook, Duncan, wore a striking frock of fine peach net lace, worn over peach taffeta with floor-length bouffant skirt and dainty taffeta jacket, long lace mittens and a halo cap of peach net. She carried bronze chrysanthemums. Mr. Tom Cochrane supported his bride, the ushers being Mr. Ed Cook and Mr. Eric Knight.

After the ceremony, a largely attended reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Cook receiving the guests in a smart frock of rust silk gabardine, with butterfly trimmings, and an off-the-face turban of rust and orange. Mrs. Cochrane, the groom's mother, also assisted, choosing a most becoming frock of navy blue gold-dotted sheer and hat of navy and green. Mrs. Cook's corsage bouquet was of deep red roses, and Mrs. Cochrane's of peach-colored roses and violets.

Mrs. F. Work poured tea and Misses J. Murray, J. Cathey, M. Work, M. Cochrane and Mesdames E. Knight, T. Robertson, J. Lewis, W. Knight and R. Robertson assisted in serving.

The bride's table, covered with a beautiful hand-made cloth, was centred with the four-tiered wedding cake and tall pink tapers in clouded crystal holders. Mr. P. Lloyd, Vancouver, an old family friend, proposed the toast to the bride, the groom responding.

Mr. and Mrs. Cochrane left later.

TAKES LEAD IN LACROSSE

St. Catharines Squad Defeats Orillia Terriers by Wide Margin

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Sept. 21 (C.P.)—St. Catharines Athletics defeated Orillia Terriers, 18-7, tonight to move one game ahead of the 1937-38 Eastern Canadian champions in the third game of the best of five series for the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior championship.

The Athletics took an early lead with their short-passing attack and were never headed. St. Catharines led 4-0 at the end of the first quarter, 8-0 at half-time and 14-5 at three-quarter time.

Jerry Connell, Terriers' centre, suffered what was believed a fractured leg in a collision with Gus Madson.

Orillia won the first game Friday, but St. Catharines won in Orillia Monday. Fourth game will be played at Orillia Friday.

Edmonton Grads Score Another Easy Triumph

Percy Page's "Wonder" Team Trims Canton Basketballers in Cup Series, 68-32—Noel MacDonald Nets Twenty-Five Points

EDMONTON, Sept. 21 (C.P.)—J. Percy Page's Edmonton Grads finished off their forty-fourth successful defence of the Underwood International Women's Basketball Trophy by defeating Canton, Ohio, 68-32, here tonight, to sweep the three-of-five series without a loss. Grads won the first game, 75-25, and the second, 79-52.

The Canadian wonders scored their ninety-seventh victory in Underwood Cup play only a few hours after Coach Page indicated lack of patronage during the series may cause a decision to end an organization with a record that cannot be equalled by any other in any major sport in the world. They have lost four Underwood Cup games.

It was the 463rd victory out of 479 games since 1915 for the team that, ironically, is so good it may have to be disbanded. The fans stay away from the games because Grads nearly always win. And financial receipts are not enough for the team to continue.

The forty-sixth series for the trophy will start here October 1, with Wichita Thunderstons trying to capture the cup Grads have held since 1923, when they defeated Chicago Favorite Knits two straight in the inaugural series.

LEADS SCORERS

Captain Noel MacDonald, outstanding centre, counted twenty-five points as the Canadians swept to a one-sided victory tonight after a slow start. Leading only 8-7 at the end of the first quarter and 20-16 at half-time, Edmonton rallied to lead, 41-18, at the end of the third, and kept up the pressure to win, 68-32.

Freda Savona and Ruth "Sue" Sponseller again dominated the scoring for Canton, with Savona counting seventeen and Sponseller fifteen. The two of them counted all but six of the 109 points the challengers scored in the series.

Your Health and Your Weight

UNDERWEIGHT IS SERIOUS IN CHILDREN AND YOUNG ADULTS

By JAS. W. BARTON, M.D.

A few years ago when so many women were "slimming" a note of alarm was sounded by physicians doing special work in tuberculosis who pointed out that the various tuberculosis organizations were reducing the amount or number of cases of tuberculosis in every age group except one, namely the group of girls from fifteen to twenty years of age.

The fifteen to twenty years period in a girl's life is most important as she is or should be established as a grown or adult woman. It is at this time, after just completing her puberty years that she should be eating more and resting and sleeping more to more firmly complete the process from girlhood to womanhood in order to meet life's mental and physical difficulties. Should she, instead of eating and sleeping more, decide to keep herself from gaining weight or actually reducing her present weight, then, not only tuberculosis threatens but anaemia

—thin blood— and other wasting ailments may follow.

To prevent these "teen age girls" from slimming, physicians, health journals, and health writers all warned against the danger to health and life of trying to attain the "boyish figure." It was not, however, until Flo Ziegfeld in arranging for girls for his theatrical or movie performances declared his preference for girls just a little more plump than were formerly being used, that many girls decided to stop the slimming process. It seemed that the public did not like to see these "skinny" girls.

For years our life insurance companies have been trying to tell policy holders that up to the age of thirty no effort should be made to reduce weight as a little surplus weight during these years is really helpful in withstanding various ailments, particularly those of lungs and stomach.

Dr. Jean Bogert in her book "Nutrition and Physical Fitness" says:

"Nature meant that a little fat should be spread practically everywhere in the body—under the skin, covering the organs, and in between the organs. The normal amount of fatty tissue is very useful in the body not only as reserve fuel or food but as padding about the nerve endings and to buoy or hold up the abdominal organs and hold them in their place. Accordingly, the very thin person is almost sure to be high strung and nervous, and unless special care is taken to prevent it—rest, abdominal support—the abdominal organs—stomach, intestines, kidneys—are apt to sag out of normal position. Such persons suffer from nervous indigestion, constipation and various other symptoms."

"Being about 10 per cent above the average weight for height is a distinct advantage for children and young adults, as this slight excess of weight gives a margin of reserve to draw on in case of need and protects the body in several ways. Underweight is both more common and more serious during the growth period when the body requires more food and building materials for laying down new tissues. In general we may say that to be as much as 7 to 10 per cent below the average weight for one's height means lowered vigor and lowered physical efficiency, while to be more than 10 per cent underweight is apt to mean a reduction of vitality and stamina such as may be dangerous. Many underweight people regard themselves as well, who would be surprised at how much better they would feel if they put on weight up to or slightly above the weight considered normal for their height. While it is difficult to fatten this type of person, a good deal can often be done to overcome the natural tendency to leanness and health may be improved by a 5 to 10 pound increase in weight. Moreover, a great many more people are underweight because of wrong habits of eating or living or because some physical defect or disease keeps them so, than because of any inherited tendency to be thin." The fact that some of their parents or grandparents were thin does not mean that they must be thin unless there has always been thinness on the side of both parents for two or three generations.

"Nature meant that a little fat should be spread practically everywhere in the body—under the skin, covering the organs, and in between the organs. The normal amount of fatty tissue is very useful in the body not only as reserve fuel or food but as padding about the nerve endings and to buoy or hold up the abdominal organs and hold them in their place. Accordingly, the very thin person is

"I Like THIS Pudding"

GETTING children to eat puddings is sometimes a problem. Getting them to drink milk is sometimes a problem. Here's a solution to both—make smoother, more nourishing, better-flavoured puddings with Carnation Milk. Other desserts, too—ice cream, pies, cakes, are improved when you use smooth, creamy, double-rich Carnation. Try Carnation for all milk cooking, as cream for coffee and cereals.

You know, of course, that the use of Carnation Milk for infant feeding is growing rapidly as more and more doctors learn of its easy digestibility, due to heat treatment and homogenization, its extra amount of the "sunshine" vitamin D, and its always uniformity and safety.

TIE CUTTING IS INCREASED

Saw-Log Scale 1,543,123, 477 Board Feet for Eight Months' Period

Marked increase in tie-cutting, but marked decline in other operating divisions, marked the provincial log-scale report for the month of August, issued yesterday by the Provincial Forest Service. The saw log scale for the month was 1,543,123 board feet, and for the season to date 1,543,123, 477 board feet.

In the eight-month period, 9,621, 440 lineal feet of poles and piling, 64,011 cords of firewood, and 806, 98 pieces of hewn ties were reported, in addition to the saw log scale of 1,543,123, 477 board feet. Saw logs handled were less by 350,000,000 board feet in comparison with eight months of last year.

The cutting during August exceeded that of the corresponding month last year, and for the eight-month period, ties were running 25 per cent ahead of totals in 1937, implying resumption of railway maintenance programmes this winter.

Much of the decrease in the general scale followed interruption of operations in the woods in August, due to the most serious fire hazard of many seasons past, it was explained.

Patty Berg Scores Another Great Win In U.S. Tournament

Minneapolis Shotmaker Continues Sensational Golf by Winning From Two More Opponents
—Mrs. Estelle Page Comes Through With Victories—Marian McDougall Wins

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 (AP).—Patty Berg packed another charge of dynamite into the women's United States golf championship today.

The sensational Minneapolis golfer, winner of a match yesterday by 10 and 8 "shout" margin, advanced this afternoon to the quarter-finals, and her performance overshadowed all other developments.

Four down at the turn of her match with Eva Shroff, of Massillon, O., the Minnesota star rammed a blast of par and sub-par golf on the final nine to gain a one-up, third-round victory.

In a morning match she had defeated Mrs. Bauer, East Providence, R.I., 4 and 3.

Other favorites came through as expected. Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, of Chapel Hill, N.C., defending champion, whipped Helen Waterhouse, Warwick, B.I., 2 and 1, and then downed Betty Jameson, of San Antonio, Texas, 4 and 2.

Dorothy Traung, of San Francisco, co-medalist with Mrs. Page, scored a one-up victory in fifteen holes over Mrs. Diana Flahisick, of Critchley, of England, in the morning.

Miss Shandley defeated Mrs. Gamble, 2 and 1.

Mrs. Bowden defeated Mrs. Hazlewood, 9 and 8.

CAPITOL OFFERS "MY LUCKY STAR"

Sonja Henie Is Featured With Richard Greene in Spectacular Presentation

A book of magic written seventy-eight years ago provided Hollywood movie makers with one of their most ingenious camera tricks in the filming of Sonja Henie's latest triumph, "My Lucky Star."

The big skating number in the picture which will open today at the Capitol Theatre, is the "Alice in Wonderland" ice ballet. Director Roy Del Ruth wanted to show Sonja as Alice, going through the mirror into Wonderland—and have the camera follow her.

Sharing top honors with Sonja in "My Lucky Star" is Richard Greene, last seen in "Four Men and a Prayer." The supporting players include Joan Davis, Cesar Romero, Buddy Ebsen and Arthur Treacher.

SMITH BALLEW IS RANGE DETECTIVE

Cowboy Singer Sleuth of the Old West in "Panamint's Bad Man" At Columbia Theatre

When the modern racketeer replaced the old-fashioned outlaw on the range, the next step was only logical. "To Smith Ballew, cowboy singer goes the distinction of being the first detective genius of the West. In his newest release, "Panamint's Bad Man" which will open today at the Columbia Theatre.

Crammed with typical fast-shooting murder, action, the film introduces Ballew as a new type of outlaw—better. If a few of the qualities accorded him had been around in the old frontier days, the Wild West would have made Buffalo Bill a vanishing American himself.

ENGLISH SIDE SCORES EASY FOOTBALL WIN

Defeats Irish Eleven by 8-2 In Inter-League Match At Belfast

BELFAST, Sept. 21 (AP).—A much superior English League eleven decisively defeated the Irish League representatives, 8-2, here today in the second match of the season's inter-league soccer series. It was England's thirty-fourth victory in forty games played since the two countries first met in inter-league contests. The Irishmen have been successful on only two occasions, four games being drawn.

The Englishmen scored in the first minute. McCurry, in the Irish League goal, failed to clear when Matthews, Stoke City forward, cleared beautifully, and Norton, of West Ham, headed the ball in.

McAlinden, Belfast Celtic forward, rallied the Irishmen with some clever dribbles that kept the English defence guessing. The English displayed heady football, but were inclined to overdo their clever inter-passing. Relying on direct methods, the Irish made ground faster, and unexpectedly equalized in the fifteenth minute when McIvor, half-back from Newry Town, beat Woodley with a swerving shot while the English defence was broken up.

GAME HAILET

At this point the game was held up for a few minutes when a thunderstorm broke, causing the crowd to scamper across the pitch in the shelter of the reserved stand.

In the thirteenth minute Lawton, youthful Everton centre-forward, after a brilliant movement by the English rearguard, shot low to beat McCurry and put the English up 3-1 at half-time.

Lawton proved the star of the game, scoring three times in the second half on fine shots, after Shearer, Derry City forward, equalized in the third minute. The Englishmen took complete command after that, outplaying the Irish at every turn on the treacherous ground. Welsh counted three minutes after Shearer, and Goulden and Robinson were the other English scorers.

The teams:
Irish League—Goal, McCurry (Cliftonville); backs, Adams (Distillery) and Fulton (Belfast Celtic); halfbacks, Melvor (Newry Town), Carlyle (Derry City) and Walker (Belfast Celtic); forwards, Todd (Glenrath), McAlinden (Belfast Celtic); Shearer (Derry City); Duffy (Derry City) and McCormick (Linfield).

English League—Goal, Woodley (Cliftonville); backs, Spivack (Tottenham Hotspur) and Hagwood (Arsenal); halfbacks, Williamson (Huddersfield Town), Culla (Wolverhampton Wanderers) and Welsh (Charlton Athletic); forwards, Matthews (Stoke City), Robinson (Shef-

FIVE C'S TAKE BERGER TROPHY
Defeat Victoria Cricket Club, 136 to 76, in Final Match Of Season

Another chapter in the Wednesday Cricket League history was written yesterday at Beacon Hill Park when the Five C's defeated the Victoria Cricket Club, 136 to 76, in the Berger Cup final, and the last match of the 1938 season.

Batting first, the young Victoria eleven got away to a good start, putting on 55 runs for the first two wickets. After Sparks and Smith left, nobody was able to stay with the veteran G. C. Grant, and the last six wickets only added six runs. Grant being not out for a useful innings of 15.

The Five C's started poorly, losing their first two wickets for 17 runs. Lea joined Griffin and the pair carried the score to 58 before the former was bowled by Macdonald. With McIlvenny as his partner, Griffin made the winning hit shortly afterwards, the churchmen's total finally reaching 136. In Griffin's innings of 78 were twelve four and one six.

McIlvenny had the fine analysis of five wickets for 17 runs for the Five C's, and Grant took four wickets for 46 runs for Victoria.

British Columbia Football Board Turns Down the Elks Club

VANCOUVER, Sept. 21 (AP).—The application of Victoria's Elks for a franchise in the Inter-City Football League was turned down by the British Columbia Soccer Commission, Secretary John Richardson announced after a meeting here late today.

Richardson issued the following statement in connection with the commission's decision:
"In the event of there being an Inter-City League, the application of Victoria United All-Star team will be given first consideration."

Richardson explained that the commission would meet in two or three weeks and decide whether an Inter-City League would be organized again this year.

Last year the league operated with five teams of the Mainland Soccer League—St. Andrews, North Shore United, St. Michaels, New Westminster Royals and Vancouver Radicals—in addition to Victoria United and Nanaimo, Upper Island All-Stars.

Today's meeting was the third in the past week to decide on the Elks application. It met last Saturday night in Victoria, and again in Vancouver on Monday.

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

"Dear Mr. Culbertson—I may be cynical, but when a partner makes only one mistake per hand I feel that he has given me comparatively good service. As you know, it sometimes takes two or more mistakes to ruin a sound contract. Last night my partner showed that if he couldn't do it the first time, he would stick to it until he succeeded. This was the hand:

South, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

I sat North with that horrible mess. My partner opened one heart. West passed, and I did likewise. East reopened with one trump. South bid two hearts and West came in with two spades. I passed again. West passed, and now South, disregarding the fact that I had not even kept the bidding open for him, persisted to three hearts. While I sat quaking, my worst fears were realized when this heart bid reached East. He doubled in no uncertain tone.

West opened the jack of spades. East overtook and continued the suit. Declarer ruffed the third round, and led the king of diamonds, which lost to East's ace. East returned a diamond, and now declarer, instead of leading up to dummy's ten of hearts and thus insuring himself against two heart losers, cashed the ace and king. I will say that at this point he suddenly awoke to the fact that the heart suit probably would not break, hence did not try a third round. He led the club queen. East won, and made a return that should have been a life-saver to us, namely, a diamond. But you wouldn't catch my partner wasting a trump on a trick that was going to be his. Oh, no! he chucked a club. Dummy's diamond jack won and another diamond was played, probably in the naive hope that East would ruff and allow declarer to over-ruff. East was not that bad, however; he merely discarded a club. Declarer let go the club ace, but now when dummy's fifth diamond was led East could discard another club, whereas declarer, with three trumps, had to ruff. Then two trump tricks had to be conceded to East's queen-nine of hearts.

"Of course East had made a bad return by selecting his third diamond instead of a club. The latter would have given us no chance. But how simple it should have been for declarer to recover from his previous error on East's actual diamond return—All he had to do was ruff, enter dummy with the low club to the jack, and lead another diamond. If East discarded, declarer would let go the club ace, and, reduced to the jack-eight of trumps, would have been in a position to coup East's nine spot. If East, instead of discarding that fourth diamond, elected to ruff, declarer could over-ruff and hold East to one trump trick.

"What is it about so many players that they hate to part with a trump?"

"Appealingly yours,

"J. F. C. New York City"

My correspondent's analysis leaves nothing for me to add, as for his final question, I'm afraid that I must admit that I cannot answer it. I simply don't know.

Committees Meet For Discussion of Sockeye Fisheries

Canadian and United States Boards for Protection Of Fraser River Salmon Industry Are Convening at Vancouver Today

VANCOUVER, Sept. 21 (P)—Rehabilitation of the Fraser River sockeye salmon fisheries, steps already taken and plans for the future, will be under discussion here tomorrow and Friday. For the first time since it was formed in 1936 under a treaty between Canada and the United States, the full International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission will meet the full advisory committee drawn from both countries.

After the meetings, the commission will make a tour planned to take them over most of the 10,000 miles of the watershed of the Fraser River and tributaries in British Columbia.

COMMISSION MEMBERS

A. L. Hager, Vancouver, is chairman of the commission. The other members are B. M. Brennan, Seattle, supervisor of fisheries for the State of Washington; secretary, Dr. W. A. Found, Ottawa, Canadian deputy minister of fisheries; Tom Reid, M.P., New Westminster, B.C.; Edward W. Allen, Seattle, chairman of the International Fisheries Commission; Charles E. Jackson, Washington, D.C., deputy commissioner, United States Bureau of Fisheries; Dr. William F. Thompson, Seattle, is technical adviser of the commission and director of its investigations.

The commission itself will meet tomorrow and on Friday will meet with the advisory committee made up of five representatives of Canada and five of the United States, drawn from all branches of the fisheries industry interested in the Fraser River, including cannerymen, sport and commercial fishermen.

BODIES REPRESENTED

The United States members of the committee and the bodies they represent are:

C. J. Collins, Seattle; Chester Carlson, Laconner, Wash., co-operative fishermen; Severin Lelle, Seattle, Fishermen's Co-operative Association; Lee Mackovich, Seattle, Purse Seine Vessel Owners' Association; Ken McLeod, Seattle, Washington State Sportmen's Council, Canada; members: M. W. Black, New Westminster, B.C. Rod and Gun Club; M. E. Guest, Vancouver, United Fishermen's Central Union of British Columbia, Local 44; W. G. Hawley, Kyquoot, B.C., Co-operative Trollers Association of Uclulet; R. Nelson, Vancouver, Nelson Bros. Fisheries; P. R. R. Whinnock, B.C., Fishermen's Protective Association.

Already wide investigations have been made in the effort to rehabilitate the Fraser River salmon industry, which is only a small fraction of its one-time magnitude. Under the treaty the commission will study the sockeye salmon for a period of eight years, two four-year life cycles of the fish.

ing thirst and hunger. He tells a story of being becalmed forty days and apparently finds little difficulty in getting that which he claims he needs—stays away from the coast of the United States because he fears the coast guard vessels. His last statement to the commander of the freighter Vermont, after getting a small cargo of supplies, was that his destination was the Galapagos Islands.

Losses of whales sustained by expeditions owing to bad visibility may be materially reduced by the employment of a recently developed miniature type ultra-short wave radio transmitter which is mounted at the upper end of a flag harpoon used to mark the position of a dead whale. The transmitter automatically radiates a permanent signal for a sufficiently long time to enable the returning whale-catcher to locate the dead whale by means of a direction-finding apparatus. The transmitter was developed by a wireless officer attached to the Norwegian whaling expedition, and is said to have been successfully tried out. It is said that the cost of constructing a number of the transmitters is small compared with the number of whales which might be lost after harpooning when the device is not employed.

STRIKE OVER FISH PRICES

White Seiners on Johnstone Strait and Vicinity Practically Suspend Fishing

VANCOUVER, Sept. 21 (P)—A strike by fishermen for higher prices has curtailed last season's fishing in Johnstone Strait, officials of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association reported here today. In some districts fishing has been entirely suspended.

Investigators from canneries here have gone to the grounds to check on conditions and order the nets home if a satisfactory settlement cannot be reached.

The trouble arose when about 100 white seiners, operating in Johnstone Strait, asked 12 cents for chums, for which the canneries were paying 8 cents.

Usually this species of salmon is bought by the salteries, who sell it to the canneries. They used to pay from 8 to 15 cents for this fish, compared with the 7 and 8 cents offering by the canneries.

FOUR CONDITIONS
This year, owing to chaotic conditions in the Orient, the salteries have not been active, and the only purchasers have been the canneries.

Tuesday the salmon gillnetters of Butte and Toba Inlets went out according to reports. The salmon trollers at Alert Bay, both Indian and white, also are on strike.

Actual demands of the gillnetters and trollers have not been made known.

PLANE ORDER IS COMPLETE

Trans-Canada Takes Delivery of Last Two Lockheed Air Liners

WINNIPEG, Sept. 21.—Completing the fleet of Trans-Canada Air Lines aircraft, two new Lockheed 14's, CF-TCL and CF-TCM, winged their way from California to Vancouver late Tuesday and today were expected to take off on the remaining leg of the ferry trip to Winnipeg.

Their arrival boosted the number of T.C.A. 14's to ten and filled the order placed last year with the Lockheed factory at Burbank. Five Electras, smaller craft of Lockheed manufacture and the first planes purchased at the air line's inception, are to be sent into service over the various feeder lines connecting in both East and West with the mainline route served by the huge 14's.

H. T. Lewis, chief technical adviser in charge of flying, Pilot Markway Kennedy and Ronald George, and T. M. Shields, of the Department of Transport, were at the controls of the new machines on the northbound flight.

Lockheed 14's are recognized among the most efficient of today's transport aircraft. Many have been purchased by European air lines and only recently the R.A.F. took delivery of the first of an order for 200.

Their cruise at 225 miles per hour, have a top speed of 250, accommodation for ten passengers and a crew of three, and the cargo capacity of 2,700 pounds is the largest ever built into aircraft of the size.

Young Victorian Possesses Extra Master's Papers

The many friends of Basil P. Ford in Victoria will be interested to learn that he has passed the extra masters' examination at Trinity House, London, and been posted to an officer's berth aboard the Canadian Pacific flagship Seamstress of Britain.

Although only thirty years of age, Captain Ford is achieving considerable success in his chosen profession and will undoubtedly go far.

Born here, he is a son of Mrs. Kate Ford, Victoria, and grandson of the late C. E. Redfern, a former mayor of the city. He was educated at South Park School and Victoria High School, was a member of the Rainbow Sea Cadets and started his seafaring life on Dollar Line ships.
